

European Settlers Trying to Negotiate Future of Algeria

Terrorists Attempting to Force Talks With Moslems

ALGIERS (AP)—Desperate European settlers are trying to pressure the Moslem nationalists into negotiating Algeria's future with them instead of with the French government.

Offers to negotiate a "system of coexistence" have been made by the terrorist Secret Army Organization and the General Union of French Workers of Algeria, which represents virtually the whole European labor force.

They have not put their demands into concrete form. But as their part of the bargain, the European terrorists are proposing to stop their murder of Moslems and systematic destruction. The labor unions are offering to halt the exodus to France of the European labor force.

Contacts Reported

In a pamphlet and a pirate broadcast, the secret army hinted that leaders of the European extremists already have had contacts with the provisional Algerian executive installed by the French and members of the Moslem National Liberation Front, the FLN.

The provisional executive denied such contacts. One of the key members, Chekhi Mostefai, said the secret army's hints were "a system of intoxication which can further jeopardize the future" of Algeria's European community.

"The secret army has no political future," Mostefai said.

There has been no formal comment so far from the FLN government in Tunis. The nationalists' attitude has always been that the secret army represents no valid political force and that it can be destroyed in 15 days if tough enough means are used.

European View

Both the provisional Algerian executive and the FLN contend that all possible guarantees for the Europeans have been stipulated in the Evian cease-fire agreement.

The European settlers regard the Evian agreement as a declaration of intention and not as a binding contract. They want to discuss their future with the Moslem nationalists before the self-determination vote July 1.

The French workers' union issued a virtual ultimatum demanding direct negotiations with the Moslems before the referendum or its members would quit Algeria.

"If we leave, the economy would collapse," the settlers say. But the Moslem nationalists are determined to achieve their political objectives — in dependence and control of the country — no matter what the cost.

European terrorism, swooping down on Moslems in Algeria's major cities has not stamped the nationalist leaders.

"We are waiting," said one who suffered eight years. "We can still suffer five weeks later, we will know how to deal with the problem. If we wanted to, we could send our commandos into the streets of Algiers today and 30,000 Europeans would be dead."

Elderly Bicycle Rider State Traffic Fatality

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The death of an elderly bicycle rider and a Manitowish County woman have raised Wisconsin's 1962 highway traffic toll to 226, 1962 highway traffic toll to 226, 1962 highway traffic toll to 226.

The motion was filed by attorneys for Secretary of State Robert Zimmerman, defendant in the action, only a few days after a panel of three federal judges said they could take jurisdiction in the case if presented with a proper petition.

The amended dismissal motion contends that the federal courts lack jurisdiction and that the plaintiffs have not exhausted their remedies in state courts. It also argued that the proceedings should be stayed because the 1961 Legislature "has not yet failed to perform its constitutional mandate" to realize the districts.

When the court made its first ruling, it said that the panel could take jurisdiction if residents, rather than the state, were made plaintiffs.

Missing U. S. Men Found Safe in Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Helicopters today recovered two U. S. military advisers missing in the Houei Sai area since Sunday.

A U. S. military spokesman said the two men—Sgt. L. C. Virgil Murphy of Van Buren, Ind., and Sgt. Merle Looney, whose home town could not be learned immediately—were in good condition.

The two sergeants were attached to the royal Laotian army at Houei Sai, 220 miles northwest of Vientiane on the Mekong River border between Thailand and Laos. They disappeared when troops of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao renewed their attack on government forces in the area.

Great Buying Wave After Severe Decline in Shares

Flags and Poppies Decorate the graves of veterans at Riverside Cemetery on Memorial Day. Through flags, flowers and decorations, through parades and speeches, and through silent memories, the people of the Fox Cities pay special tribute on this day to those who gave their lives to keep their country free.

Most of Monday's Losses Wiped Out by Flood of Orders During Afternoon

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market took a much-needed rest since Nov. 14, 1929, today after a dizzy whirl in which it rallied from its steepest dive since 1929.

Stock exchanges are closed for the Memorial Day holiday. The swirling rally Tuesday afternoon recovered almost all of the ground lost Monday in the worst price collapse in 33 years.

But investors and brokers had this question to ponder: Will the rally carry through Thursday?

There was no way of telling whether the momentum generated will be sufficient to hurdle the holiday breather.

Some brokers were optimistic but conceded it would be an uphill struggle to sustain an advance in a market that has been declining since mid-March.

"People will see what's going on and reflect that this thing isn't as bad as it seemed," one commented. "It looks like a good summer."

"Idiocy at Its Highest"

Another characterized Tuesday's action—a nosedive in the morning and an upsurge in the afternoon—as "sheer idiocy at its highest."

A sudden surge of buying by mutual funds and other institutions sparked the rally.

The advance, with blue-chip stocks in the vanguard, jerked Wall Street from a shroud of gloom. Brokers on the floor and spectators in the gallery at New York Stock Exchange cheered as the closing bell rang at 3:30 p.m.

But it wasn't until 8:14 p.m. that the exchange's swamped high-speed ticker tape spun out the report on the final transaction.

Average Up 27.03

In the remarkable recovery, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial issues spurted 27.03 to 603.96, coming close to wiping out Monday's loss of 34.95.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks jumped 8.99 to 229.10 after having dropped 15.40 the day before.

Official Denies Gifts Or Favors Involved in Dealing With Estes

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Agriculture Department official who let Billie Sol Estes' bond remain at $700,000 for storing millions in government grain—a decision that has brought Republican charges of favoritism—says there were no favors, gifts or pressures involved.

The official, Carl J. Miller, transferred from his job as chief of warehouse division as a result of the Estes scandal, testified Tuesday he met the indicted Texas promoter twice—once on business and once socially at a dinner here.

The time he talked business with Estes, he said, was in January 1961, when the department proposed to raise Estes' bond to $1 million.

Estes, then storing grain valued at about $50 million, was fighting the proposal.

Sparta Fetes Astronaut Son Deke Slayton

SPARTA (AP)—Donald K. Deke Slayton, the astronaut who didn't make the last orbital flight, told former neighbors well-wishers today for a 4-year-old boy's celebration.

Slayton spent the night at the home of his parents and hoped to get in a little fishing with his father before leaving later today for Cocoa Beach, Fla., and a reunion with his wife and son.

The Air Force major came here on his way back from Mueen, Australia, where he was in charge of a tracking station during last Thursday's three-orbit flight by Scott Carpenter.

Slayton had been scheduled to make the flight until physicians discovered he had a slight heart murmur. Asked about his space future, he said, "I don't know anything more than anyone else does."

The Wisconsin astronaut arrived in mid-afternoon and stayed overnight at his parents' home. He was accompanied by his wife, Marcia, and son, Deke Jr., 4.

Mr. Slayton, 62, of about 14 years earlier that he near the Manitowish County line, was injured fatally May 28, 1958, in a collision on Highway 6, were unable to be here 141 in southeast Brown County because of the short notice.

Compromise Formula

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Department officials are reported trying to work out a compromise formula to resolve differences between U. S. and West German proposals for negotiations with the Soviet Union over control of access routes to West Berlin.

Disagreement between the two allies is a handicap to the United States in continuing talks with the Soviet Union about the possibility of an East-West agreement to end the long dispute over Berlin's future.

Nevertheless, the Kennedy administration is resolved to press forward with the exploratory talks under way since last September.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk called in Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin for a Berlin conference today. Some informants said that in view of continuing alleged differences the talk would necessarily be general in nature.

There were reports, however, that Rusk is trying to get the Soviet government to agree to negotiate on the status of the access routes as an issue separate from the West Berlin itself.

The purpose of this "de-linking" strategy is to try to define one or more problems which can be negotiated. The United States, Britain and France, as well as West Germany, repeatedly have demanded that the Soviet demand that the Western powers agree to withdraw their forces from West Berlin and give it the status of a "free city" in the heart of Communist East Germany is totally unacceptable and therefore not negotiable.

Rusk has made clear to the Russians, however, that the United States is prepared to negotiate about the access routes and has suggested the creation of an international authority to control and operate the routes.

Rock-Dropping Crow Arouses Neighbors

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—A crow that drops rocks on youngsters drew the wrath of mothers in a north-eastern Portland suburb area Tuesday.

Body of Boy Taken From Mine Shaft

SHAMOKIN, Pa. (AP)—Rescuers today found the body of a 12-year-old boy who plunged down a 255-foot shaft while exploring an abandoned coal mine with a friend Tuesday night, Shamokin city police said.

Police said a coroner lowered the body to the shaft pronounced the boy dead.

Market Rally Eases Attacks On Democrats

Humphrey Predicts Added Improvement In U. S. Economy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats who had been concerned by ominous political implications of the stock market plunge breathed easier today after most of the losses were recovered in a spectacular pre-holiday rally.

While the market prices were in their deep slump, Kennedy administration officials said there was no economic basis for the slide.

But Congressional Republicans gloom. Brokers on the floor and spectators in the gallery at New York Stock Exchange cheered as the closing bell rang at 3:30 p.m.

As for the GOP criticism that had been hurled at the administration while Wall Street prices were tumbling, Humphrey said: "I thought our Republican colleagues were a little bit out of touch."

Memorial Day Any Year

On almost every Memorial Day in recent decades we have added the names of more Americans who have died in the service of their country. We shall continue through our generation and probably our century. The day when the battle flags are furled and the war drums beat no longer looks far, far away.

But the battle is not always with bayonets or ballistic missiles. Part of the war against injustice, misery and tyranny is diplomatic, the right action or words at the right time, the awareness of the nature of the enemy, the determination that he must be stopped.

Even more than this, an essential part of the struggle must be our knowledge that the fight is worth it. This is not merely a matter of physical survival although we have the dreadful evidence of the corpses in the streets of Budapest and the starving children at the Hong Kong gates. But it is for the dignity of mankind that we have fought for so many years. The enemy is that which would make mankind a mindless chattel and destroy his soul.

In his usual cynical way, George Bernard Shaw wrote that liberty means responsibility which is why most men dread it. It is not easy always for us to understand why our soldiers are in Viet Nam or Trailand, our ships spread out over several oceans, our planes based around the world. But we know now, along with Abraham Lincoln, that the world cannot exist half slave and half free. We must continue the struggle or it will come to our own door.

In a reply to the famous poem by John McCrae, C. B. Galbreath wrote:
*Your flaming torch aloft we bear,
With burning heart an oath we swear
To keep the faith, to fight it through,
To crush the foe or sleep with you
In Flanders Field.*

Along with the memories and the prayers on Memorial Day for those who died that we might live as we do, every American should pledge himself again to continue the tremendous struggle for the liberty of the mind, the body and the soul. It's a never ending battle on many fronts.

Fishing on the Reservation

The attorney general's ruling that laws which regulate hunting and fishing in other counties of Wisconsin also apply to the lands of the newly formed Menominee County, until recently an Indian reservation, may have little effect as far as the public is concerned.

The hunting and fishing laws apply to all counties and therefore must also apply to Menominee County but in most counties large land areas are posted against hunters. In fact, in some localities, so much of the land is posted that the best a hunter can do is trudge along a highway or a railroad track in the hope of finding some foolish game bird or animal outside of the posted area. In most counties, however, access to water is easy and fishing is open to all.

In Menominee County, however, the situation is different. All of the land in that county is owned by Menominee Enterprises, Inc. This organization has announced that all lands will be posted against hunters and trespassers of all kinds. This means that it will be practically impossible for hunters to operate and perhaps for fishermen also. Presumably it would be technically possible, if the attorney general's ruling holds up, for fishermen to launch a boat or wade into the waters only where they touch upon the right-of-way of a state highway.

However, this is by no means certain since the spokesman for the Menominee Enterprises, Inc., says there are some very complicated legal questions involving treaty rights and ancient privileges of the tribe which must be resolved before the rights of the public will be known. For the present it would appear that the best solution is to pay the fee required for hunting or fishing and wait final legal decision on the matter.

County Teachers Colleges

The Coordinating Committee's study of the County Teachers Colleges in Wisconsin seeks to list the various qualifications of the faculty, the characteristics of the students, physical facilities, costs and other data in an effort to determine whether the colleges should be kept as they are or if and how they should be changed.

Obviously the worth of an individual teacher cannot be measured exactly in the degree received, the courses taken or the years of experience. But the facts concerning the average faculty at the county colleges indicates a generally mediocre level of educational background. Particularly pertinent, it seems, is the lack of emphasis upon academic subjects.

Among the 111 full time faculty members at all the county colleges, only 10 have degrees in general science and biology, 1 in history and 4 in English. Almost all the others who have degrees, and most of the degrees are bachelor's, are in elementary education.

It can be argued that degrees in elementary education are unimportant since the graduates of county colleges are licensed to teach only in elementary rural schools. But today elementary education, without frills at all, must include a great deal more than the three R's. There is not only the obvious lack of basic instruction in science and the arts that can be taught to a county college student in the two-year course. There also must be a considerable lack of emphasis if the faculty itself is deficient in the essential academic disciplines.

There is a pattern to this. A faculty with a limited academic background instructs a student who goes directly into teaching in the rural elementary schools. The children in these schools usually have less opportunities for modern science, foreign languages, art, music and even good literature. They in turn go on to high school and are generally uninspired to take more academic subjects than specifically required. Small rural high schools, their course offerings limited by size, are not pressured by either student or parent demand for a higher level of academic excellence. The result can be indicated by the smaller percentage of Wisconsin rural youth who go on to college.

Of course there are advantages in living in small communities and there are advantages even in the one-room school. But they do not include educational opportunities equal to those offered to city youngsters. It would appear that the continued existence of the county colleges with their present make-up only serves to further this lack of educational opportunity for Wisconsin rural youth.

The articles and headlines took the same line. "Estes Case Shakes Entire City; Friends Voice Deep Sympathy." "Estes did the Texas farmers a big favor in his storage manipulations" because "newspapers were filled with pictures of vast piles of wheat lying out in the open, exposed to wind, sun and any passing rain. Estes' storage facilities met a crying need of the farmers even as did many of his other operations." An editorial commented that "one concludes that the newspaper 'hatchet men' sent to Pecos are instructed to find and write any fictitious or fabulous story, without regard to its truthfulness, building up in a year what is becoming the 1962 legend of Estes and like most legends, quite apochryphal, false and unauthentic."

Maybe one clue to the newspaper point of view can be found in its ownership. Billie Sol Estes owns the newspaper and reportedly writes a lot of the editorials.

Mr. Estes' Newspaper

As the various bits, pieces and great big chunks of evidence build up in the fantastic case of Billie Sol Estes, an interesting head in the sand attitude has been taken by one newspaper in Pecos, Texas, Billie Sol's hometown.

When the rival paper began its series of articles exposing the fertilizer tank fraud, the second paper mentioned nary a word. Not until the week after Billie Sol was arrested, did it give any news whatsoever on the case.

Then, even when the almost unbelievable matter of an investigator whose death was declared a suicide although he had been shot five times, once in the back, with a bolt-action rifle, was literally and figuratively exhumed, the Pecos paper blamed it all on the John Birch Society. Reporters who snooped around were called yokeis. Westbrook Pegler's usual splenetic column on the matter was denounced as "a bilious attack of quackery."

Chinese Babies Have Smothered Thai, Lao People for Centuries

BY ALBION ROSS
Written for Chicago Daily News
Foreign Service

CHICAGO — The headlines out of Thailand are a thousand years old. This story in which 5,000 American soldiers are now involved started in China in the first millennium A. D.

It is also another refugee story. The Thai in Thailand like the Lao in Laos are refugees. They chose freedom when the Chinese undertook to make a territory possibly the size of all western Europe in what is now south and southwestern China.

Far to the north the originally small nation of the Chinese in the Yellow River country had been developing over millennia their satelitz-and-absorb operation.

Their most powerful weapon was babies. As their population grew they advanced over great mountain ranges, rivers, marshes and jungle lands. As they moved steadily south and southwest they reduced the peoples they encountered to the status of satellite principalities and then absorbed them by smothering them in babies.

In another half-century or so there will be a billion Chinese. The struggle with the bitterly resisting Thai nation lasted until 1251 when their long vassal kingdom was suppressed.

But it was about a thousand years ago that those Thai who chose free-lion started moving south in hands through the great jungle-covered mountain ranges. They had become refugees seeking a home and freedom from Chinese domination.

Thailand Largest State
The majority came out of the mountain ranges into the great central basin of mainland southeast Asia. Within that basin today lie Thailand, the Mekong Valley or Lao portion of Laos, Cambodia and the Mekong delta and adjacent Saigon River valley portion of South Viet Nam.

Thailand is now the largest and most important state in the great central basin of mainland southeast Asia.

American fliers on patrol above the new American positions in northeast Thailand will see the mountain ranges to the north that isolate the basin from China. They will note that the ranges swing southeastward to the Nienamese coast.

Communist North Viet Nam, centered in the fertile Red River valley of Tonkin, is an ally and associate of Communist China. The Thai and most others consider it a satellite of Red China. However, it lies outside the central basin of mainland southeast Asia beyond the mountain ranges and close up against China. For much of its history the area has been either Chinese territory or under Chinese domination.

Barriers Breached
In all that thousand years since the Thai started settling in the great basin the mountain wall around the basin never has been breached by the Chinese or a Chinese satellite and no direct or indirect Chinese satellite state appeared within the basin.

The "golden flowers of home- age" sent on occasion to the Chinese emperors had established no true satellite relationship.

Now the barrier has been breached by the Pathet Lao, supported by the Chinese Communists and North Vietnamese. With the threat of Pathet Lao conquest of all Laos growing, Thailand's SEATO ally, the United States, has been struggling to persuade the Laotian anti-Communist faction to enter a "neutralist" common government with the Communists under Souvanna Phouma, the neutralist half-brother of Communist leader Souphanouvong.

Bangkok's political caste does not go around with its head in a sack. It has long lived in an environment of intrigue and counter-intrigue.

Fear Another Korea
The Thai are now openly suspicious. They suspect that the United States is so afraid of another Korea that it is willing to let the Pathet Lao have Laos through a face-saving "neutralist" formula.

That would leave the unwilling Thai — sole southeast Asian mainland member of SEATO — holding the bag.

Thailand's whole situation and problem will be changed if a Lao-speaking Chinese and North-Vietnamese satellite is set up as its neighbor within the so-far inviolable great central basin.

The Thai have demonstrated that they are capable of some remarkable political acrobatics. The have come increasingly to regard the American-led SEATO as a paper dragon and accordingly no protection against real dragons. That can have political consequences.

Bangkok has a reputation for changing direction at full gallop. During the last war it was a Japanese ally with a pro-Japanese government in power and an anti-Japanese shadow government held in reserve.

Enemies, Old Friends
The latter slid into the saddle and shot off in the opposite direction as the Japanese collapsed.

The Communist Vietminh are enemies but also old friends. During the Indochina war the Vietminh fighting in southern Indochina were supplied from Bangkok. A former post-war premier and major political leader, Pridi Phanomyong, lived for a period in Peiping and there is a neutralist group that could take over if worst came to worst.

Bangkok has already taken out insurance by accepting the principle of Soviet aid and diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union.

Taxpayer Groups Attain New Stature

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — One of the noteworthy developments of current politics in Wisconsin is what might perhaps be called the acceptance of the organized taxpayer movement as a legitimate interest.

A decade and a half ago when the first rumblings of protest were heard in the legislature from the local taxpayer clubs associated with the Public Expenditure Survey public opinion in political circles was hostile.

Liberal action advocates, especially, resented what they called the selfish interference of persons whose concern was exclusively, as they saw it, in the tax costs of government to the total neglect of the public service consequences of such expenditures.

Sometimes legislators treated such spokesmen almost rudely. The public press typically emphasized the testimony of the spending agencies, during budget hearing arguments, and dismissed the taxpayer association assertions deprecatingly.

THE CHANGE

A strange political rehabilitation has taken place in the last few years.

Now some of the Survey publications are being endorsed by persons and organizations that spoke with ill-disguised suspicion only a few years earlier.

Last week Gov. Gaylord Nelson, a politician whose liberal credentials won't be easily challenged, grasped an opportunity to use a taxpayers' forum in Milwaukee for a speech on a favorite topic — governmental reorganization.

At the same meeting there were officers of state government departments, including can soldiers in Thailand is more explicable in terms of Thai affairs than those of Laos.

That the Pathet Lao for no conceivable reason intend now or in the immediate future to invade Thailand is a rather improbable proposition. The Americans are very unlikely to find any enemy to fight on Thai territory.

However, they may serve to hold the allegiance of a wavering ally and give an appearance of substance to a SEATO alliance so discredited that it had become the butt of all the joke fabricators in Bangkok.

educational institutions, who would not have responded to such invitations a decade earlier. Today legislative committee chairman hospitably reserve time for the Survey agents and the taxpayer club officers at their public hearings and some of them consult the Survey staff as often as they ask for the assistance of the public agencies involved in the subjects at hand. Leading politicians now are happy to be invited to address the district and state conferences of the taxpayer clubs.

What has happened to transform the climate in which the taxpayer movement operates?

Its basic purposes remain the same. It is concerned with ever heavier load of public taxation. It is profoundly skeptical about the justification for many of the public services that have been securely ensconced in state and local budgets. It obviously represents contributors and members who are more concerned about the tax cost of government than about other political issues.

GUESSES

If guesses are permitted, there are two reasonably plausible ones. One relates to the increasing sophistication of the taxpayer movement, its leaders, and its professional staffers. The second relates to a changed public atmosphere on public spending and taxation problems.

The taxpayer organizations are performing more solid and thoughtful work. The approach is more constructive. Once the movement was associated with the classical home owner tax consciousness. It has enlarged its horizons to embrace the far more comprehensive tax problems of today. For most of the active citizens of Wisconsin, the word tax no longer means the tax on his house. It means a budget of obligations that is the largest single item in his personal financing situation.

At the same time there appears to have developed a public response to the taxpayer cause. Twenty years ago the average man or woman was inclined to dismiss complaints about taxation as the problem of the rich fellow. Today everybody has a tax problem and almost everybody has a tax worry. As one consequence, the kind of members of the tax clubs has changed. They are younger, more articulate, more representative of the communities from which they spring, and better equipped for serious participation in public policy discussions and more capable of defending themselves in the rebuttal of the institutional interests.

After a series of brilliant actions by our troops, Beauregard "skedaddled" from Corinth, Miss., which was surrendered on Friday last (May 30).

The 2nd Iowa Cavalry made forced marches to Bonnsville to destroy the Mobile and Ohio Railroad and immense quantities of arms, ammunition and clothing. They also took 2,000 prisoners.

Our army is so posted that the capture or dispersion of the whole of Beauregard's army is almost certain. There really is a surfeit of prisoners daily.

Faithful Urged To Consecrate All to Christ

Rev. Dauner Says
God's Love Merits
Full Consecration

"The only logical, reasonable and sensible thing for the believer to do is to consecrate his all to such a mighty Redeemer," the Rev. Frank Dauner told his congregation at Emmanuel Evangelical United Brethren Church Sunday.

He quoted a passage from St. Paul to Timothy, telling of his trust and confidence in the Lord. "It is good for us to remember what sort of man this is who was writing and speaking so confidently," he said. "This is the man whose life direction was completely changed after he met Christ on the road to Damascus. All that he was and had and ever would be (and this was considerable, for with his ability, skill and learning he was rapidly ascending the ladder of authority) he committed to Jesus Christ."

From a Roman prison, "he could write with this confidence because he knew that everything that he possessed of lasting value was not at the mercy of the Roman captors but in the safekeeping of One who never failed him — One whom he could trust throughout all eternity," he said. "In the language of the text, he had a sacred deposit in the bank of heaven, the satisfaction of which kept him firm, confident, at peace in every situation."

Entrust All
"What about my account, your account with the heavenly bank?" the Rev. Mr. Dauner asked. "Why not, like Paul, let Him come in all His fullness to be the Lord of your life? In Christ you can truly find a safe, sure place to entrust all of value. Certainly His far-reaching love merits such a return: that is, His love merits the complete consecration of our lives to Him."

"To consecrate means to devote, to dedicate, to hallow," he went on. "To devote brings in the element of Christian love. . . . By His life and the giving of Himself Jesus Christ has bought us and made possible our salvation. He also made us in His own image, with freedom of will. Now He is waiting to see us willingly devote our whole way to Him—for life."

"Dedication involves the idea of separation," he continued. "In Christian terms this does not mean setting oneself apart, aloof; rather it implies separated for service."

No Compromise
"On the cross Jesus gave Himself completely for our redemption," the Rev. Mr. Dauner said. "Can we possibly give less in return? Such love demands life, soul and all in dedicated, consecrated service. Here is no place for compromise."

"Paul continually addressed believers as 'saints.' Many people shy away from this word, for so often it has been misused in the sense of 'sinless perfection,' he noted. "Neither Jesus or Paul ever used it in that sense. In his position before God each Christian is set apart to worship and serve God, although many times his present state may fall far short of his glorious standing. According to the New Testament teaching, every believer is a saint — set apart, devoted, dedicated to God—holiness."

A Sure Path
"Does the love of Christ control us to such an extent as to call forth this kind of consecration?" he asked.

"Someone very aptly said that those who live on the mountain have a longer day than those who live in the valley," he said. "Sometimes all one needs to brighten his day is to rise a little higher. Consecration is a sure path to the mountain top."

"The Master of all heaven and earth is here," the Rev. Mr. Dauner concluded. "Have you opened your life completely to Him? This is the only way we can make our offering of self 'wholly acceptable to God,' which is the purpose of our service."

Parking Ramp Land Owned By Appleton

City Attorney Rules No Doubt About Ownership

The 22½-foot wide strip of land used as an alley between Walnut and Division streets, on which part of an Appleton parking ramp will be built, is owned by the city and should be vacated for the ramp, City Atty. Fred Froehlich has ruled.

The next 20 feet south of that, which abuts the rear lines of College Avenue business properties, is actually the alley according to city and county records. Froehlich says the 20-foot strip is the area now being used by business places for private parking.

Ownership of the 22½-foot strip was questioned when an initial review of the records did not show that it had ever been dedicated as an alley.

However, City Assessor John Pierce's plat map shows that the strip is part of the half block owned by the city, on which the ramp will be built.

Dedicated To City

Froehlich says his research has revealed that the 20-foot strip immediately behind the business properties was dedicated to the city as an alleyway by E. J. Pierce on Dec. 3, 1948.

Froehlich says that the council minutes of Aug. 7, 1944, show that paving the alley was completed according to specifications and plans. Those specifications and plans are not available, he says, so it is impossible to know if the minutes refer to the 20 or the 22½-foot strip. The council minutes show that property owners paid $477 of the paving costs and the city $429.

The Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co. has informed Froehlich that its utility poles have been along the north side of the 22½-foot strip since before 1935. The poles will have to be moved when the ramp is built.

Eliminate Private Parking

Plans and specifications for the ramp have been drawn with the intention of using that 22½-foot strip for part of the structure.

When the ramp is built the alley between Walnut and Division will be the same width and in line with alleys to the east. Private parking on that 20-foot strip will have to be eliminated.

Construction of the ramp is expected to start early in August with completion anticipated by Thanksgiving Day. It will cost about $330,000 and will accommodate about 250 cars.

CONTINUATION BY JEAN OTTO Post-Crescent Staff Writer

It was springtime when he found the place Near that quiet northern town, When the trees donned Maytime's promise And the earth wore summer's down.

Silent he was, in this lonely scene, Awed by the passage of time; Reading with faltering syllable Each word, each sentence, each rhyme.

A silent country churchyard, Abandoned long, long ago; Then found for an hour in springtime By a boy who wanted to know—

He wanted to know what people were like. Did they laugh the same nice way? Was anything very different then From the way it is today?

A little boy in a churchyard, Standing in springtime's sun, Discovering—just for an instant— That the past and the future were one.

Chamber Head Urges Kennedy Leadership

Wants White House To Help Rebuild Business Confidence

WASHINGTON (AP)—H. Ladd Plumley, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, called today for White House leadership in rebuilding business confidence. Plumley, an insurance executive, blamed the stock market plunge on the coincidental impact of two confidence-upsetting factors—a dimming of profit expectations and President Kennedy's quashing of the steel price increase. In a speech prepared for the National Press Club, Plumley said the government's intervention in steel pricing raised the spectre of administered prices and the curtailing of the free market. He predicted there will never again occur such a massing of power, influence, threat and general unpleasantness as was applied by Kennedy in forcing steelmakers to withdraw their April price boost. The market sell-off does not reflect current business conditions or fear of any near-term reversal of the expansion of business, Plumley said. "Now we need a thoughtful appreciation of the present lack of business confidence and a prompt, vigorous program aimed at restoring the fundamentals necessary to recreate an atmosphere of stability and growth," he said.

Kiwanis Club Program To Feature Harmonettes

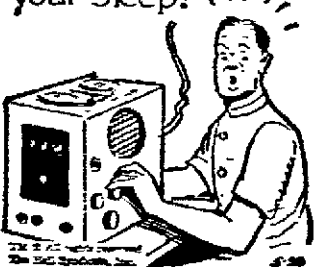

The Appleton Downtown Kiwanis Club will have selections by "The Harmonettes" and a program on St. Elizabeth Hospital at its meeting Thursday in the Michigan Room of the Conway Hotel. The meeting has been postponed.

Saxeville Fights To Preserve Its Historic Bell

Civil War Relic To be Preserved As School Closes

BY STERLING SORENSEN
SAXEVILLE, Wis. — Discontinuation of the grade school here has prompted villagers to take up battle positions to keep their prized community treasure—the Civil War "Rebel" bell, an historic relic of the past.

"The bell ain't leaving town," says Glenn Petersen, school board director and assistant chief of the Saxeville Volunteer Fire Department. "We'll put up a good fight to keep it."

This sentiment and determination is being reiterated by others of this Waushara County hamlet as it acts to safeguard and keep its much publicized memento of the War Between the States. Villagers have manned the barricades to prevent its removal, and a tablet-plaque has been set up in the village parksite memorializing the bell.

Closed Doors
Last week the two-story red brick grade school here closed its doors for the last time. Hereafter, pupils will attend Pine River and Wild Rose elementary and second ary schools under the consolidated Wild Rose system. Under the usual procedure building land and property of the discontinued district reverts to the new school which it joins.

This was the distinct threat facing Saxeville, as it faced the possibility of losing its bell.

In the belfry of the school hangs the storied bell which once sounded the call to cotton plantation field slaves owned by Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederate States of America. This was on the Mississippi plantation near Corinth, of the president of the Southern Confederation.

Troopers of Saxeville's Saxe Rangers back in 1862 during the Battle of Vicksburg took the bell from the Davis plantation as a prize of war. They snoped it back home and for some 40 years it has sounded the call to pupils of the village.

Much Lore
Much lore, legend and fiction surround the "Rebel" bell, but there remains little doubt as to its authenticity or as to the genuineness of the villagers' desire to keep and preserve it.

With Saxeville district's consolidation within the Wild Rose system there was danger that the bell "fall into alien hands. To forestall this dire eventuality and possible removal of the link with the glorious days of 1861-65, Saxeville has come up with a solution.

First, district electors voted down a proposal that the bell be returned to the state of Mississippi. Such a measure wasn't in the cards. The village's Volunteer Fire Department stepped in with a solution which is expected to safeguard the bell.

For a token payment of $1 the department has arranged to buy the schoolhouse land and all property—including the bell—and thus insure the preservation of the relic. A tablet marker has been set up advising tourist visitors of the town's bell and detailing something of history.

School board members and villagers feel that this will prevent the bell from being removed from Saxeville. The community was named in honor of Capt. Edward Saxe, whose company of Boys in Blue Rangers "appropriated" the bell and snoped it back to Waushara County.

The Saxeville school district is some 10 years old, and the present building which may be converted into a museum and/or recreation hall, is over 75 years old.

Kimberly Sets Honors Banquet

KIMBERLY—Juniors and seniors at Kimberly High School who made the honor roll during the 1961-62 school year will be honored at an honors banquet at 6:30 p.m. Thursday in the school.

Speaker will be Herbert H. Hebe, principal of Appleton High School. Donna Doweck will serve as mistress of ceremonies. The dinner will be served by the Women's Club of the Presbyterian Church.

French General Will Retire Rather Than Execute Old Classmate

PARIS (AP)—A French general is reported to have retired from active duty rather than set up a firing squad to shoot an old classmate.

The newspaper Le Monde reported Monday that Gen. Francois Parriot made that choice in connection with the condemnation of several convicted traitors including ex Gen. Edmond Jouhaud, No. 2 man in the European Secret Army Organization. Jouhaud and Parriot attended St. Cyr Military Academy together.

The French Defense Ministry refused to confirm or deny the Le Monde story.

Hawaiian Leis, Fish Nets, Tropical Flowers Bedeck Riverview Country Club for Party

The balmy breezes of Hawaii never quite made it over the Rocky mountains, but the effect was the same. Riverview country club members found themselves in an Island Paradise Saturday evening at their Hawaiian dinner dance.

Tropical flowers, swimming fish, shady straw hats and leis and muu muus for the ladies added to the atmosphere. The menu, too, was in keeping with the land of sea and sand and swaying palms. The dinner included barbecued chicken with rice. Dessert was Hawaiian coconut macadamia nut sunde.

Dr. and Mrs. M. J. Eich, above, looked over the decorations used to give a Hawaiian setting to the Riverview Country Club's Saturday evening party. At left, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heeter pause in their island garb to enjoy the colorful decorations.

William Daniel Jr. adorned his wife in the traditional Hawaiian manner when the pair attended Riverview's Saturday evening party. Members wore costumes in key with the casual and colorful island life. At right, Mr. and Mrs. James Grist enjoy the food planned to carry out the party theme. Dr. and Mrs. James Gmeiner, left, had been greeted at the door and given a lei when they entered the clubhouse for the festivities Saturday.

Cleanliness Kit Aid to Traveler

Stow a bar of soap, a washcloth and a strip of plastic in your purse or make-up case while traveling.

When you stop for a meal or a rest, tuck the plastic into the neckline of your dress or blouse to protect it from moisture. Then lather up your face and neck, rinse off, apply fresh make-up—and you will feel like a "new" woman!

Complexion Care

If complexion tends to be sallow "bring it out" by adding pink to the makeup. Blend carefully to avoid streaks. If natural complexion is too heightened, "tone it down" with a bit of pale green added to the powder. Persons having either of the complexion extremes should avoid neutral tones which only emphasize the problem. As a final professional touch, create a flattering matte finish by setting the makeup with a cotton square dampened in witch hazel.

Supposed Dog Lover Sets Bad Example by Abandoning Pet

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please print this letter for the benefit of packs. They turn wild and can, people who call themselves dog-lovers—until the dog becomes too much trouble to take care of, or until the poor animal gets old and sick.

We live out in the country and I am shocked by the number of people who dump suffering animals on the road because they don't want to pay a vet to put them to sleep.

I wonder what these people think happens to the pets that gave them so many years of companionship. Well, I can tell them. Some get run over. Others wander around and die of starvation. Still others are injured or killed by farm machinery. I've seen abandoned dogs running in print this letter for the benefit of packs. They turn wild and can, people who call themselves dog-lovers—until the dog becomes too much trouble to take care of, or until the poor animal gets old and sick.

Please, Ann, tell people through your column that when pets get old and sick and are no longer wanted, a bullet through the head is an act of mercy compared with dumping them out on a country road.—Farmer's Wife

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The teenager who signed his letter "Like In Reform School" gave you just the boy's side of the story. I would like to give you the girl's side.

A few weeks ago I was sent to the principal's office because my skirt was too short. The teacher who sent me is an old maid who wears her Mother Hubbard aprons two inches above her ankles.

My girl friend was asked to leave this same teacher's class because she wore ornaments in her hair. After that incident it was announced on the loudspeaker system that the girls are not to wear anything on their heads that glitters.

Don't you think high school girls should be allowed to follow the latest styles without interference from some old biddy who never had a date in life?—Like in Jail

Dear Like: I agree that high school girls should be allowed to follow the latest styles, but unfortunately some girls are tasteless enough to get themselves up like burlesque queens and must be hauled into line.

The question, "How short is too short?" is controversial. In my opinion the knees should be covered—with something to spare. When a girl sits down her skirt hikes up at least three inches.

And just for the record, Doll, no high school girl needs anything in her hair that glitters—at least not until 7 p.m.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is a difficult letter to write. I will do my best. A girl came to work in this office two months ago. She is very sweet, has a pleasant personality and is well liked, but she's so careless about herself it's a shame. There are days when her neck is actually dirty. I've seen her dab perfume behind her ears when she should be using soap and water. Last week she wore a short-sleeved dress and her pinned bra straps kept falling off her shoulders all afternoon. This is such a delicate subject no one wants to face her with it. We hate to hurt her feelings. Is it worth the chance? Would an anonymous note be best? Please advise us.—Fourth Floor

Dear Fourth: An anonymous note would be cruel. If you want to help her, the most tactful girl in the office should take her aside and tell her (as gently as possible) what you have told me.

If she doesn't accept it in the proper spirit you will at least know that you tried to befriend her. I think it's worth the chance.

To learn the booby traps of teenage drinking, write for Ann

Landers' booklet, "Teenage Drinking," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Today's Etiquette
BY LOUISE DAVIS

I am sixteen. My boy friend invited me to a banquet and dance. I have never been to anything like this and don't know too much about etiquette for such an occasion. Please help me. If I wear a top coat, what do I do with it? What should I do if something is served at dinner that I don't like. One thing I don't like is a salad.

Louise Davis Answers:
I think you're a scared young lady and I promise that you have no reason to be scared. Just be yourself and remember that you will have an escort at your side. Don't be afraid to converse with people around you but don't forsake your young man. Other girls will be wearing coats. There will be a place provided for them. I strongly advise you to eat something of everything. Surely a salad won't make you ill. I'm sure you'll get one, so make a stab at it. I wager that you won't think it so bad after all. You really should make up your mind right now to eat what is placed before you for all the years to come. It's self discipline and excellent training. Unless you turn out to be an odd ball which I very much doubt, you will be invited to dinner many times at the homes of friends. You wouldn't think of embarrassing your hostesses by turning up your nose at their salads or at anything else. What people serve at banquets and at private parties are generally carefully thought out in advance to be reasonably sure that everyone will like the menu.

Hosiery Care

A hosiery buyer, with 30 years of department store experience in the field of leg coverings, advises customers to wash new nylons before wearing them. She explains that pre-wear sudsing removes excess dye, and also makes hosiery fit better and look more attractive.

SEAMS TO ME
By Patricia Scott

A delicate trim looks so pretty on a little girl's dress that it's worth extra time and effort required to make it. I think that today we tend to go overboard on the coverall and tee shirt garb. The writer of this first letter evidently agrees with this opinion.

Pat Scott

Overdoing Overall Bit

Then, just slip stitch it to the dress.

Q. I am very round-shouldered and the necklines of my dresses always bulge in the back. How can I fix them?—Miss T. M.

A. If the bulge isn't too great ease the extra fullness at the back neckline when you put on the collar or facing. Or, you can take in the bulge with small darts, tucks or shirring at the back neckline before you finish it. If there is a large bulge, rip the shoulder and underarm seams, and raise the back shoulder seam to smooth out the bulge. Then refit the shoulder seam, using darts on the back shoulder seam if necessary. Also refit the underarm seams, the back neckline and the armhole line.

Q. When making a dress, it is better to fold the dress in between sewing sessions or should I hang it up. Friends of mine who sew have given me both answers.—Miss J. C.

A. It's much better to keep the dress on a hanger. This will give the bias sections of the dress a chance to fall or sag into their natural shapes and will prevent wrinkles.

Q. I'm so tired of seeing my little girl in pants that I've decided to make her some pretty dresses. I saw one in a store that had a ribbon trim that was adorable. It was made of two-faced ribbon and it was shirred in a way that gave a scallop effect. I tried a row of shirring down the middle, but it didn't look right. Will you please tell me how to stitching, with the longest machine stitch, from the first dot.

A. I believe you have in mind connecting the dots by alternating the zigzag scallop... and pretty from one side to the other in a Miss Scott is always glad to do it! Mark one edge of the zigzag design, as shown in the illustration. After you've ever possible will use their question along the length of the ribbon, completed the stitching, tie the ends in her column, but because then mark the other edge so that thread ends together at one end of the great volume of mail reach mark is opposite the half and pull the bobbin thread at the curved daily, she cannot answer way point between the first mark other. The scallops will be formed individual letters. (See top illustration) Start as you ease the gathering thread

Too Much Talk Can Ruin Game

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Critics of the noble game of bridge sometimes complain that it tends to stifle the art of conversation. They would withdraw this complaint in a hurry if they had seen the play of this hand:

East declared, as he ruffed with the three of diamonds. This is not our nomination for the conversational gem of the week.

South over-ruffed with the four of diamonds and led out the ace and king of trumps. This dropped all of the missing trumps, and South cheerfully spread his hand and conceded a trick to the ace of clubs.

Talking Start

This is where the conversation began. West pointed out that East would have made a trump trick if he hadn't ruffed; that East could have promoted a trump trick for his partner by ruffing with the ten instead of the three; and that a player who didn't know how or when to ruff was a menace to the public and would be confined by any sensible government.

As you might imagine, the conversation didn't end there. East showed how bridge develops the power of memory by recalling a play that West had made an hour or two earlier. Meanwhile North congratulated South on his neat little swindle, and the North-South love fest contrasted artistically with the East-West dialogue.

It was all very inspiring, but it might be observed that South's play was better than his bidding. The leap to six diamonds showed more ambition than judgment. It would have been more sensible to stop at game.

Your opinion

The dangers of physical destruction are well understood. In some ways, the greater danger, because it is not well understood, is social disintegration. If we no longer know what to expect of each other, the entire fabric of social relationships may be damaged beyond repair. Certainly one of the great challenges confronting all of us is the establishment and support of predictable and reliable practices of social relationships that we can safely take for granted.

Try Kabob Party for Summer

Dad dons his apron and chef's hat and prepares a variety of delicious charcoal-grilled foods on his own personal outdoor grill.

A "kabob" party is as simple to organize as it is fun for your guests. Lay out a buffet of the ingredients (meats, vegetables and fruits) and make up one or two skewers to serve as models. Then let your guests join in the fun. They'll delight in arranging the meats and vegetables on the skewers and watching their "kabobs" cooking to a turn.

Here are a few suggestions for kabob parties at its best:

Engagement Of Daughter Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Steinfeldt, Antigo, have announced the engagement of their daughter,

Beth Steinfeldt

Beth, to James Knapp, son of John Knapp, Antigo, and the late Mrs. Knapp.

Miss Steinfeldt is employed at Scolding Locks Co. Her fiancé is employed at Bernard Lindsay, Antigo.

No wedding date has been set.

White Clothes

No amount of bleaching, detergent or scrubbing will cover up soil left in clothes. For sparkling white clothes the washer water should be hot. Set the control on your water heater at 150 degrees on wash day. Modern water heaters are designed to give adequate hot water for laundry without reducing the supply for other household needs.

Rubber Flooring Requires Care

Rubber tile flooring has a distinctive appearance, but requires careful maintenance. Since grease, oil, or abrasives can damage rubber tile, spills should be wiped up promptly with a sudsy cloth.

To maintain its brightness, wash a rubber tile floor with thick soap or detergent suds, followed by a damp-mop rinse. When dry, wax it lightly with self-polishing wax.

The Ailing House Milk Glass Can be Like New

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: I have a milk glass punch bowl and six cups that have been blackened by smoke. Is there any way I can clean the smoke out of the dishes? I have used household cleaners and steel wool soap suds but it doesn't do much good.

A: Try washing with a strong, hot solution of washing soda, and allowing to soak in solution for a while. Or use one of the grill and oven cleaning preparations, now widely available at supermarkets, housewares and hardware stores.

Resilvering Mirror

Q: How can I resilver a mirror? I have a mirror that is blurry in spots. Can the spots be resilvered without resilvering the entire mirror?

A: Because of the elaborate equipment necessary, mirrors can be resilvered only by professionals, it is impossible to do at home. However, small spots can be repaired (or at least made less conspicuous) by touching up the areas with a chrome or aluminum paint; or taping smooth, wrinkle-free aluminum foil over the damage. It won't look 100 percent perfect, but will be an improvement if carefully done.

Worn Storm Door

Q: When we removed our storm door (wood), we noticed the varnish was badly worn on the outside surface. What is the best way to refinish?

A: Place the door over a pair of horses, or in any raised, horizontal position, for ease in refinishing. Remove all remaining varnish, down to bare wood, with a paint remover, following label directions carefully. If the wood is stained or discolored, bleach it with wood bleach or by applying a liberal amount of a hot, satur-

Action Supplants Talk Against 'Runaways'

Film Industry, Including Labor, Plan
Curbs to U. S. Movies Made Abroad

BY BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Everyone in Hollywood has been talking about runaway film production, but no one has done anything about it—until now.

Elements of the film industry, especially labor, have been lamenting the flight of American-sponsored movies to foreign lands for two or three years. At last the problem is being attacked in concrete terms, and with some success so far.

George Stevens has been cast in the part of crusader for home-based film. He denies any such grandiose role, declaring he merely wants to make "The Greatest Story Ever Told" sensibly and well.

Stevens resisted attractive offers to shoot the Christ story overseas. A meticulous creator, he appreciates the quality of Hollywood craftsmen. But he was determined that the $10 million he intends to spend will not be wasted.

Must Cut Waste
"Production has already run away," accuses the producer-director. "We'd like to do something to bring it back. If we can demonstrate that a film of this size and importance can be made reasonably in the United States, perhaps other producers will be encouraged to follow our lead."

"But writing letters to the editor won't do it. Waste in any area is something we can no longer indulge. Every resource that goes into our film must be carefully considered—and we are willing to spend what money is necessary to get something very good onto the screen."

"What we cannot live with is featherbedding."

Stevens has thus held meetings with various unions and guilds to seek "clarification of contracts." He has already achieved more realistic terms with the extras, costumes and property men.

He ran up against a stone wall in his talks with the camera union over standby still photographers which have been required when outside lensmen visit the set. Curiously, this is Stevens' own union and one of those most administration's new tax bill. One of the provisions would lessen the tax advantage for stars and other film creators who live and work overseas.

3. To seek a better tax setup for highly-paid talent. Stars might thus be induced to make more movies rather than holding off "because all the money goes to the government."

4. To ask government agencies to seek relief from tariffs that discriminate against American film production to overseas locations.

5. To initiate a survey on the cost differential of Hollywood vs. from all segments of the industry foreign production. The industry is now seeking months. Five areas of action have ways to implement these proposals. Nearly everyone agrees vocal against runaway filming. The industry at large, both management and labor, is also moving in the direction of urging political action to stem the drain of film production to overseas locations.

Jail Overcrowded, Prisoner Control Affected, Sheriff Says

Relative Freedom of Huber Law Workers Causes Difficulties

BY RAY PY Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A recent increase in Huber law prisoners in the Outagamie County jail threatens to break down the jail's prisoner control system, Sheriff Robert Heinritz says.

Heinritz said the jail's prisoner population of 44 is made up of 25 Huber law prisoners who are confined in jail daily after they have finished jobs in various parts of the city and county. He said the Huber law section of the jail has room for 16 prisoners and seven Huber law workers now are jailed with prisoners of the jail's maximum security section.

Two other Huber law prisoners — both juveniles — are lodged by themselves in the juvenile section. They cannot be placed with adult prisoners.

Relative Freedom
Heinritz said the overflow of Huber law prisoners makes control extremely difficult because of the relative freedom of the Huber law men. Because of their daily contact with the outside, Heinritz said, they have been used in the past by security prisoners to take out messages and bring in saw blades or even weapons.

The sheriff said it is not practical to examine each Huber law prisoner coming and going in the jail because of the shortage of jail staff. Huber law prisoners work both at night and during the day.

Because of an escape from a maximum security cell last year, prisoners there are not allowed complete freedom within their block, Heinritz said.

During the day, maximum security prisoners are kept in a small dayroom at the head of the cellblock. The dayroom has a metal table where about 10 prisoners can sit. Others must stand or sit on the floor. The prisoners were allowed at one time to walk in the narrow corridor in front of the cells, but that has been discontinued because the corridor is bordered by windows which were used last year in the escape.

High Temperatures
Ventilation is provided by the small windows facing the corridor and Heinritz said on warm days the temperature may go as high as 90 or 95 degrees.

Other sections of the jail are reserved for juveniles, women and trustees. There is a sitting room for the jail matron, and a small room near the jail office which serves as a television lounge for Huber prisoners and a visiting room.

Heinritz said the 21-year-old jail which, when built, complied with existing state requirements "has simply outgrown its usefulness."

The sheriff said ideally the jail should have a large dormitory section for Huber law prisoners to keep the two sections separate.

Heinritz also said the laundry, which has one washer and one dryer, and the kitchen, which has one six-burner stove, were inadequate for a jail with an average daily population of over 30 prisoners.

Maximum Population
Maximum population the jail could hold, Heinritz said, was 51 prisoners. Heinritz said, however, that would fill every bed in every cell and would be under emergency conditions.

Heinritz said the population is determined by the juvenile and women's sections of the jail, which can never be used for any other purpose.

If one juvenile is confined, he can only be confined with other juveniles. If there are no other juveniles, the single prisoner takes up the four-bed cell, even if adult prisoners are sleeping in the corridor, Heinritz said. The same thing is true of women prisoners.

Recent changes in the jail have brought two electric fans which are placed in the jail corridor and run at night and awnings over the office windows, which cut down the heat during the day. Heinritz said it was possible to get more fans, but there are no electric outlets in the cell sections where they can be plugged in.

The keynote address was by Green Bay Packer coach Vince Lombardi. Hayes said, in introducing Lombardi, "Everybody knows his tremendous job of leading the Packers from a losing team in 1958 to a world championship in 1961, but not many are aware of the great amount of quiet good that Vince Lombardi does for all

An 18-year-old sailor stationed at Great Lakes Naval Training Center told Outagamie County sheriff authorities he was held up and pushed out of a car about midnight Tuesday as he was hitchhiking from Milwaukee to Green Bay.

Gilbert D. Mattson, Newberry, Mich., was taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital by Larry's ambulance when he was found by a passing motorist beside the road on U.S. 41, near U.S. 10. Mattson said he had $1 when he left Milwaukee to visit his girlfriend in Green Bay. Workers to Get Wage Increase Of 52-58 Cents

Sheetmetal Locals At Agreement With Area Contractors

GREEN BAY — Sheetmetal workers and contractors in the Green Bay, Appleton, and Oshkosh areas have reached an agreement calling for a pay hike of from 52 cents to 58 cents over three years.

All that remains is to work out a few minor details before the contract is signed, according to Ray Pritchard, business agent for locals in the three areas.

Same Rate
In Green Bay, about 62 members of Local 143 of the Sheetmetal Workers International Assn. will receive a wage boost

18 Graduate at St. Mary School In Bear Creek

BEAR CREEK — Diplomas were presented by the Rev. Robert Hogan to 18 eighth grade graduates of the St. Mary Catholic School at the 8 a.m. mass Sunday.

A breakfast was served by the seventh grade mothers in the church hall to the graduates and their parents.

The graduates are Mary Balke, Patricia Flanagan, Lois Guyette, Jean Hennrichson, Joan Hennrichson, Mary Kay Langenhuisen, Patricia Lorge, Robert Lorge, Jean Malliet, Joseph McClone, Dan Meidam, Beverly Monty, James Nordor, Edward Prunty Jr., Theresa Shaddock, David Shaw, Pamela Suehring and Ryan Wal-of 54 cents an hour in the next three years.

Appleton Local 151, with about 84 members will be granted 52 cent boost, and Oshkosh local 287 with 37 members will get 58 cents.

The difference in pay hikes is so that all sheetmetal workers will be earning the same hourly rate at the expiration of the agreement on May 31, 1965.

The present contract between the workers and the contractors expires in Green Bay Friday. The contract expired in Oshkosh and Appleton April 1. The two locals agreed to hold off individual negotiations so one contract could cover the three communities.

Macklin Will Run Again

District Attorney At Waupaca Makes No Ticket Choice

WAUPACA — Edward R. Macklin, acting district attorney, announced today that he will seek the post of district attorney for another term.

Macklin, a partner in the New London law firm of Werner and Macklin, has held the district attorney's post since July 1, 1961, under an appointment by Circuit Judge Herbert A. Bunde.

In announcing his intention to seek the DA's office, Macklin did not indicate which ticket he would run on. In 1960, he was a candidate on the Democratic ticket, but since that time has been at odds with the county chairman.

Macklin stated that he continues to maintain his membership in the Democratic Party, but disagrees with the manner in which the county unit is being managed.

Macklin stated that he was encouraged by the number of signatures obtained on petitions urging him to seek office as an independent.

Macklin graduated from Harvard Law School where he was a National Scholar, and practiced law in New York City for three years prior to forming a partnership with Atty. Francis A. Werner, New London, in 1959.

His father, the late Harry D. Macklin, was New London's chief of police for 30 years. Macklin is married to the former, Suzanne Scoble, Long Island, N. Y. They have two children.

Fremont Marshal Nabs Man in Cheese Factory

WAUPACA — A 57-year-old Chicago man was caught in Silverfield Cheese Store and Factory, Fremont, about 2 a.m. today in what police say was an apparent burglary attempt.

William J. Duggan is being held at the county jail pending further investigation. Adolph Ball, operator of the Fireside Tavern next door to the cheese factory, saw a man in the cheese store about 1:59 a.m. today. Ball called Dale Ludtke, village marshal, who came to the scene and apprehended Duggan in the act of wrapping up meats and cheeses.

William Mork, county patrolman, was also called. Mork found that Duggan had broken a window to get into the factory and entered the store by breaking an other window in a door.

Duggan had a quantity of produce in a basket ready to go. Further investigation showed that the cigarette machine had been broken and cabinets and files rifled through.

Two Charged in Attempt to Break Into Coin Changer

Two Appleton patrolmen interrupted two young men as they attempted to break into coin changers in the Northgate laundry early today.

The men are being held in Appleton jail.

Squad patrolmen Rodney Helms and David Karr said they were parked in the 300 block of E. McArthur Street about 2:15 a.m. when they spotted the two men walking toward the laundry. The patrolmen turned off their car lights and watched the two men enter the store.

Saw Squad Car
Later, one came out of the laundry, spotted the squad car and went back inside. The two patrolmen then went into the laundry and saw one of them in front of the changers.

The patrolmen asked the men for identification, which they could not produce. The patrolmen found a screwdriver in the lining of the man's jacket and a pry bar on the floor near where the men were standing.

The men were taken to Appleton police headquarters where they admitted they had planned to break into the changers. They said they came to Appleton from Oshkosh about 1:30 a.m. and stopped at the first laundry they saw. They parked their car in the Fox Valley Lutheran High School parking lot where police found it later with a flat tire.

Lou Hemauer Signs Pro Contract With Kansas City A's

Bert Thiel Signs Zephyr Star For 'Pretty Good' Bonus

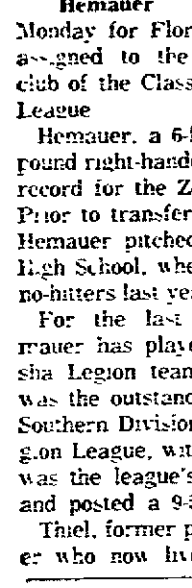

Louis Hemauer, Menasha St Midwest scout for the A's. This Mary pitching star, has signed a is the first player he has signed professional baseball contract with in this, his first year of scouting the Kansas City Athletics.

The 18-year-old Hemauer was signed by scout Bert Thiel, for what Thiel describes as a "pretty good bonus." Hemauer will leave Monday for Florida, having been assigned to the Daytona Beach club of the Class D Florida State League.

Hemauer, a 6-foot-1½ inch, 185-pound right-hander, compiled a 6-3 record for the Zephyrs this year. Prior to transferring to St. Mary, Hemauer pitched for Stockbridge High School, where he hurled two no-hitters last year.

For the last two years, Hemauer has played for the Menasha Legion team. Last year, he was the outstanding hurler in the Southern Division, Fox Valley League, with a 7-3 mark. He was the league's strikeout leader and posted a 9-5 record, overall.

Jim Brown Gets Boost In Salary

Rushing Champion Reported to be Highest-Paid Gridder

CLEVELAND (AP) — Fullback Jim Brown, who has set several National Football League records with his powerful runs, put another in the books Tuesday. He signed a contract for his sixth season with the Cleveland Browns at a salary reported to make him the highest paid player in professional football.

The former Syracuse All-American, who considered returning to enter business last winter, said he was "looking forward to having a line year and plans to give 100 per cent, as I always do."

Specific figures were not revealed, but Arthur B. Modell, president of the Browns, said the big fullback's salary is "a substantial increase over what he got in his last contract. We believe it is the highest in professional football."

5 Straight Years

Modell said reports that Brown signed for $42,000 were not correct but declined to say whether the figure was close to the salary he will receive. He said the contract was for one year with a 1-1-year option. Brown has just completed a 2-year pact under which he was paid $32,000 a year.

The 228-pound fullback has led the NFL in rushing for a record five consecutive seasons, compiling a total of 6,463 yards on 1,269 carries for a 5.1-yard average.

Head Coach Paul Brown called Jim "the No. 1 drawing card in professional football" and said he had signed "a very fine contract for himself," adding:

"We hope he has the kind of a year that a contract like this would call for."

Brown 26, said he had considered quitting football and devoting full time to his off-season job with a soft drink company, but decided to continue his gridiron career after the company assured him a "good job will be waiting for me when I retire."

Mike Ditka Signs '62 Bear Contract

CHICAGO (AP) — End Mike Ditka, last season's National Football League Rookie of the Year, has signed his 1962 contract with the Chicago Bears.

Ditka, who came to the Bears in the 1960 college draft from the University of Pittsburgh, caught 56 passes for 1,076 yards and a 19.2 yard average, and 12 touchdowns.

Ernie Banks Clouts 3 in Losing Cause

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago Cub slugger Ernie Banks returned to action Tuesday after being beamed last Friday and pounded out a double and three consecutive home runs but it was not enough.

The Milwaukee Braves retaliated with three home runs of their own to gain an 11-9 victory in the four-base slugfest.

Nine home runs were blasted in Wrigley Field with a strong southwest wind frequently helping push the ball over the fence. The Cubs got six of the extra base blows and pounded four Milwaukee hurlers for 15 hits. Other Chicago batters who hit homers were Billy Williams, Bob Will and George Altman.

Banks was struck by a Moe Drabowsky pitch at Cincinnati Friday night and had been resting since that time. After a lead-off double, he poled a two-run homer in the third and had solo shots in the fifth and seventh to give him 14 for the season.

Take 9-0 Lead

The Braves got off to a 9-0 lead in the first three innings. They got three runs in the second on Joe Adcock's homer with Mack Jones on base and Joe Torre's solo four-base shot. Milwaukee added six runs in the third, all of them unearned.

Gus Bell was thrown out to open the third inning. Roy McMillan walked but Eddie Mathews struck out. Henry Aaron was safe on Andre Rodgers' fumble. McMillan stopping at second Jones walked to fill the bases. McMillan scored and the other two base runners advanced on Bob Buhl's wild pitch. Adcock was purposely passed, refilling the bases. Torre singled to left scoring Aaron and Jones with Adcock stopping at second. Amado Samuel hit his first home run of the year and scored behind Adcock and Torre.

Clintonville '9' Will Meet Defending State Champions

Hedtke to Pitch in Truickers' First State Tourney Appearance

CLINTONVILLE — Coach Werner Wernberg's Clintonville Truickers will run into defending champion Eau Claire in the opening round of the 15th annual state high school baseball tournament at Eau Claire Thursday 4:30 p.m.

Benoit and Dodgeville will tangle in the first game (1:30) of the tournament.

This is the first time Clintonville High School has qualified for the state baseball tournament.

Fond du Lac will meet Maple at 7 p.m., to open the evening session with Kenosha and Weston battling in the 9 p.m. game.

Title Game Saturday

The semi-finals will be played Friday night. The state championship will be decided at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Eau Claire rates as one of the favorites for the tourney. The Old Abes have won three titles previously, including the 1961 crown.

Wernberg, a 1960 graduate of Stevens Point State College who is now in his second year as head baseball coach at Clintonville has nominated right-hander Jim Hedtke as his pitcher in the opener. Hedtke has developed fast in late games both as a starter and reliever and has helped the Truickers win 10 out of their last 11 games. Their season record stands at 12-4.

The young coach reports that Jack Korb and Mick Nelson are the team's leading hitters with .420 averages. Sophomore Bill Melzer is the leading home run hitter, with four.

Left fielder Dwain Etheridge is now batting in the cleanup position for the Truickers, having been elevated because of some fine hitting in recent games.

Wernberg believes that the experience gained in Legion play last summer by about a half-dozen of his players has proved helpful. The Clintonville Legion

Tigers Bomb Orioles, Climb to Within 2 Games of First Place

Athletics' Wyatt, Fischer Stop Yankees, 2 to 1

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It took them a while to find the range but Detroit's surging Tigers have finally zeroed in on the next target in their rapid rise is the big one—the American League lead.

Don Mossi's seven-hit pitching backed by an offensive barrage that included four homers carried the Tigers over Baltimore 12-4 Tuesday and put them a mere closer to the top.

The Tigers, stiffest opposition for the New York Yankees last year and expected to make another challenge this season, have steadied themselves after an erratic start. They were in ninth early this month after a string of five losses and 13 days ago were in seventh, 5½ games off the pace.

Since then they've won nine of 11 in a climb that's taken them to fourth place, two games behind first place Cleveland.

In other AL games, Kansas City shaded New York 2-1, dropping the Yankees out of a tie for the lead, as John Wyatt and Bill Fischer combined for a seven-hitter. Boston beat third-place Minnesota 6-5, and Washington edged Los Angeles 7-6 on Jim Piersall's home run in the 10th inning. Cleveland and Chicago had the day off.

Baltimore took a short-lived 2-0 lead against Detroit in the second on homers by Jackie Brandt and Dave Nicholson, but then the Tigers roared. Dick Brown and Rocky Colavito homered with one on in the second and third off loser Jack Fisher and Norm Cash hit one worth three runs as the Tigers pounded in six runs in the fourth. Chicago's Fernando homered leading off the fifth.

Nicholson closed out the Orioles' production against Mossi with a two-run homer in the ninth. The Tiger left-hander finished with his fourth complete game of the season and his third straight victory, building his record to 5-4.

Charlie Maxwell, filling in for the injured Al Kaline, collected three of Detroit's 15 hits, while Cash, Colavito, Fernandez, Brown and Mossi all had two each.

Wyatt and Fischer frustrated the Yankees at virtually every turn as the defending league champions again showed a lack of punch for the big inning. They loaded the bases with one out in the first, got their first two men on in the fifth and had another chance in the eighth with two on — but failed to score each time and stranded 10 runners.

The Athletics netted their two runs in the first off rookie Jim

Boog Powell Hits Fence, Hurts Leg

DETROIT (AP) — The charging Detroit Tigers got another solid pitching performance Tuesday as Don Mossi halted the Baltimore Orioles 12-4 with the support of a heavy home run attack.

Homers by Dick Brown, Rocky Colavito, Norm Cash and Chico Fernandez powered the Tigers to their eighth victory in nine games.

Brown's wind-blown homer made it 2-2 in the bottom of the second and cost the Orioles use of left fielder Boog Powell. The rookie went back for the ball and banged his left leg against the fence, injuring his hamstring muscle.

Powell was carried from the field on a stretcher and taken to a hospital where X-rays showed no fracture. He was placed on crutches and returned to Baltimore with the Orioles. Dr. Russell Wright, Detroit's club physician, said Powell would be sidelined at least until the weekend.

Lee, in nine games this season, compiled a 3-3 record and a 4.50 earned run average. He is from Phoenix, Arizona, on six hits. Carl Peterson Ariz, drove in both Illinois runs with a pair of singles as his team won its first victory in the double-elimination series.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Coach Peanuts Lowrey today temporarily took over as manager of the Philadelphia Phillies for their doubleheader with the San Francisco Giants as Manager Gene Mauch was in a Los Angeles hospital with a lung irritation.

Mauch is undergoing tests in the Rio Hondo Hospital. A Philadelphia spokesman quoted the manager's personal physician, Dr. M. H. Musicer, as saying the irritation was the aftermath of a bout with the flu and was not serious.

Mauch is due to be released from the hospital Thursday, barring unforeseen complications, the spokesman said.

Cubs O'Neil Becomes First Negro Coach in Big Leagues

CHICAGO (AP)—John (Buck) O'Neil was signed as a Chicago Cub coach Tuesday, becoming the first Negro to hold such a position in the major leagues.

O'Neil, 50, had been a scout in the Cubs' organization since 1956 and was instrumental in signing most of the Negro players on the club.

As a former player and manager for the Kansas City Monarchs of the Negro American League, he helped both Ernie Banks and George Altman of the Cubs get their start toward the majors.

"Buck will serve in the capacity of an instructor and as such will not be considered a potential head coach or manager under the club's rotation plan," said Vice President John Holland, who pre-announced the signing.

O'Neil, who has aided the Cubs since 1956, was named to the job Tuesday in the Cubs' dugout. He will be traveling with the club, but he had no official status with the club while the games were in progress.

Appleton Sailor Watches Planes Take Off, Return With Astronaut

BY DENNIS ANDERSON
Aviation Metal Smith, Hydraulics, U.S.N.

USS INTREPID — When the word was passed that Lt. Cmdr. Malcolm Scott Carpenter had fired his retro rockets and was entering the atmosphere, the Marine helos and our HSS-2s were preparing to launch from the flight deck.

Almost immediately following the announcement, the flight deck was swarmed over with the curiosity seekers (almost everyone aboard). The Marines kept a restraining line across different sections of the flight deck, both then and during the actual recovery.

New Roles

After the helos were launched, the announcement came that Lt. Cmdr. Carpenter had overshot the pickup area by 200 miles. That was quite a disappointment to everyone. We were sure we had no chance for making the pickup.

The helos returned aboard, and their greater speed advantage

(all of the pilots returned to the m.p.h. faster) and their longer flying time (two hours more) than the Marines' HUS helos. The planes were launched again (just the HSS-2s) and sent with a full load to the splash site at maximum speed.

Deafening Cheer

When the news was passed on board that the HSS-2, No. 61, had achieved the recovery of Lt. Cmdr. Carpenter, a deafening cheer went up on the flight deck, Carpenter and I imagine everywhere else on the ship, too.

At this time the carrier was 142 miles from the capsule, and, of course, the helos started their recovery back posture. When the plane landed and he stepped onto the flight deck, a

Aluminum Foil

The funny part was—all I could think of was that his space suit looked like aluminum foil to me. And, as you've probably seen many times, he had a grin that spread from ear to ear. There were at least 2,000 men who were one real happy man at this moment. A craft are being readied to take Lt. Cmdr. Carpenter to the Grand Turk Island. About 1,000 of them had lands 2,600 Navy time, 8:30 p.m. That's what it was like aboard the USS Intrepid.

Central Banks' Power Worldwide

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Will Rogers is reported to have said it long ago. "There have been three great inventions since the beginning of time: fire, the wheel, and central banking." It's a nonsensical sequence, of course, but at times, when the world's central bankers have been operating aggressively to create business booms or to put the brakes on their economies, informed observers have not been among the most powerful men in the world, have just completed a four-day, closed-door conference "one of the most useful institutions in Rome devoted primarily to discussing ways to stem the outflow of gold from the U.S. and to protect the U.S. dollar's value." Today's column continues the theme. In its capacity as fiscal primer on what a central bank agent, the Federal Reserve System is and why central bankers are so powerful. Just this month, for instance, in a speech before the Economic Club of Detroit, John Exter, senior vice president of the First National City Bank of New York, declared that while the U.S. government's policies on wages, prices, taxes, trade, the debt, the reserves of commercial banks, "are important," they are important "only to the extent that they affect monetary policy. In the end, it is what the Federal Reserve does that counts." The Federal Reserve System is the central bank of the United States. In yesterday's column, I reported that the top central bankers of Europe and the U.S. are paid to it by the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond in a bank and the U.S. Treasury are deliberately separated by law. A central bank is, third, the manager of the nation's money and credit system and this, as the Richmond Federal Reserve Bank says, is its "most distinguishing function" as well as a power of awesome magnitude. In its capacity as a bankers' bank and manager of the nation's money and credit system, the Federal Reserve System can and does create money. When, for example, the Federal Reserve buys U.S. government securities in the open market, it creates money which fuels the entire economy. For his money is "high-powered" — meaning banks use it as reserves on the basis of which they can make loans many times the total of the amount of money created by the Central Bank. When the Federal Reserve sells U.S. government securities in the open market, it mops up credit, puts the brakes on the economy. When loans are easy to get and cheap, it is the Federal Reserve

On May 21, a bulldozer took a bite of blue clay from 30 feet under the topsoil and came up with a bone fragment. Paleontologist John Rensberger of the University of California identified it as the canine tooth of a Pleistocene epoch bear named Tremarctotherium, a large name for a brawny bruin taller than nine feet. Next, a highly fragmented limb bone from a Taramylodon, a giant ground sloth perhaps six feet long was uncovered. Also discovered were a fairly intact front leg bone from a mammoth elephant and two teeth and possibly a shoulder bone from a monster prehistoric bison.
